

$3,500 FIRE LOSS IN WESTERLY

Granite Street Building Completely Destroyed—Occupied by Frank Holliday's Saloon—Motor Apparatus Slow in Arriving—T Hyde Chase's Little Store Building at Weekapaug Also Burned to the Ground.

The building in Granite street owned and occupied by Frank Holliday, and used as a liquor store was destroyed by fire, Tuesday night, a short while before the regular closing hour, and thereby removing any suspicion that it was the work of a go-licence fire-bug, which would probably have prevailed had the fire occurred an hour or two later. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil-heating stove, which scattered burning fluid all over the lower part of the two-story frame structure. There were eight men in the saloon at the time and they were compelled to beat a hasty retreat. Mr. Holliday not having time to remove the money from the cash drawer, but which was done after the fire was subdued. The interior of the building was completely burned as was also the roof and only the shell of the structure remains. The loss is partially covered by insurance and is estimated at $3,500.

The fire alarm was sent in promptly but before the first top of the bell, the whole vicinity was illumined by the blaze. Although Westerly is supplied with two motor-driven fire apparatuses, it was nearly fifteen minutes before there was arrival of fire-fighting machine and crew. This delay was not due to the apparatus but to the system, or lack of system, in relation to the drivers. The trouble, heretofore, has been the poor service by reason of the delay in the arrival of horses at the fire house, but with the motor-driven apparatus, the delay is caused by non-arrival of drivers.

One piece of apparatus, the Cyclone, is the one selected to respond to all fire alarms, the others responding to a second alarm. The driver of this machine resides a short distance from the fire house, but it would be quick time for him to get out of bed.

Everyone Admires This Good-Looking Woman

Boasted Too Soon.
The "Bunch," by which is meant the crowd of self-styled hunters who roam about the woods in the town of Sprague hunting down defenceless animals for the sole purpose of proving their prowess, is chuckling over the incident connected with the hunting trip of an amateur sportsman who ventured out into the wilds one day last week. The hunter had boasted of his skill in bringing to earth all the savage beasts which happened unluckily to stray across his path, and he declared before starting this time that he would come home with sufficient game to grace the festive table of a king. He started out and bumped into trouble the first thing, because he went on forbidden territory, leaving that place, however, faster than he entered. Then, when he did have the luck to spy a rabbit, and lifted his sure-death device, he had forgotten to bring any shells with him. He doesn't say much now!

What Thin Folks Should Do To Gain Weight

Physician's Advice For Thin, Underdeveloped Men and Women

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fats, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to lifelong skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repelling the influence of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol, six strength-giving (fat-producing) elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this perfect preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent athletes everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

This systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faulty digestion and supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Lee & Osgood will gladly give you a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.
